Samuel DuBois Cook

Integrity does indeed make a difference—a big difference. Education without integrity is a terrible danger and an invitation to corruptions and disaster. Hitler's Germany—perhaps the most scientifically oriented, technologically advanced, and industrially developed society in modern culture—is a grim and dramatic reminder of the perils of education divorced from moral purpose, vision, and integrity. Technical education is not enough. Education must have a moral meaning, dimension and reach. Moral education is as important, if not more so, than scientific, technological, and behavioral.

Separated from morality, the educated man or woman is a danger to society. For without morality or ethical and religious considerations, there is nothing to restrain the darker side of human nature and open the floodgates of demonic evil. There is no limit to the abuses and perversions of power, the evil inflicted, the deadly excesses, and the horrors when technical and advanced intelligence is divorced from human decency, civility, and compassion.

So, integrity makes a qualitative difference not only in the educational process and product but also in the kind of individuals we are and aspire to be, the character, spirit, and direction of the groups of which we are a part, and the quality and essence of the world in which we live. Few, if any, things are more precious in this tragic world than integrity. It ranks at the very top of any rational philosophy, scale, or system of values. Ultimately, the loss of integrity means the loss or destruction of the self or selfhood. Without integrity, we are an "It" rather than a "Thou", a thing instead of a person.

Human integrity entails human dignity, wholeness, the sacredness and inviolability of personality, and moral character. Integrity means fidelity to principles and fundamental values over against the enticements, allurements, and temptations of opportunism, expediency, or narrow self-serving motivations and aspirations that defile and destroy the citadel of personhood.

Above all, human integrity involves and affirms a stubborn sense of self-respect, self-worth, and ultimate self-affirmation, and the erection, protection, and defense—at all cost—of a wall, fence, or barrier of moral sovereignty around the inner core, inner being, and inward journey of the solitary self and thereby insisting on the inviolability of the person. Thus, no matter what, some things will not be tolerated against the self, as either subject or object. The person will insist on his right of veto over potential invasions of the self's privacy, sacred territory, or domain. Hence, whatever the consequences in terms of worldly goods, power, fame, status, recognition, or other tangible and intangible rewards, the self, at some point, must say "No" to the would-be invaders, intruders, or attackers.

The ultimate glory of the human spirit is that it has a certain built-in self-protection which can and must prevail against all the powers and children of darkness and the "Gates of Hell." Human integrity entails "Radical Freedom."

Integrity also means that there are certain things we will not do to other human beings because they, too, are centers and bearers of meaning and value. If I do certain things to you, I not only violate and destroy your integrity of self but also violate and destroy my own integrity and sacred contract with the moral order and the eternal.

Education for what? Knowledge for what? Professions for what?

It is not enough to be experts in the various professions. We must be decent men and women, persons of integrity and character. It is not enough for Dillard to produce outstanding doctors, dentists, lawyers, teachers, scholars, engineers, architects, nurses, scientists, artists, and other professionals. Dillard must also produce good men and women, decent human beings, responsible selves, compassionate, committed, and humanistically grounded "Sons and Daughters" with socio-ethical sensibilities and a deep hunger to serve mankind and promote human betterment and enrichment.

At Dillard, we are deeply concerned with developing topflight professionals. But we are equally concerned with, and committed to, the production of first-rate human beings, moral persons. Ultimately, we are in the business of protecting, promoting, and defending human decency.

Integrity makes the difference because it helps to make us distinctively and creatively human and children of God.

Integrity means, among other things, that we must never "Sell Our Souls" to anybody for anything at anytime. Whatever the consequences, the "Sons and Daughters" of Dillard must never sell their souls.

"The Soul of Man"

Dr. Elton C. Harrison

Every man has a deep heart need that cannot be filled with doctrine or creed,
For the soul of man knows nothing more than just that he is longing for
A haven that is safe and sure,
a fortress where he feels secure,
An island in this sea or strife away from all the storms of life . . .
Oh, God of love, who sees us all,
You are SO GREAT! We are so small!
Hear man's universal prayer
crying to You in despair—
"Save my soul and grant me peace, let my restless murmurings cease,
God of love—Forgive! Forgive!
teach me how to TRULY LIVE,
Ask me not my race or creed,
just take me in my hour of need,
And let me know You love me, too,
and that I am A PART OF YOU" . . .
And someday may man realize that all the earth, the seas and skies
Belong to God who made us all,
the rich, the poor, the great, the small,
And in the Father's Holy Sight
no man is yellow, black or white,
And PEACE ON EARTH cannot be found
until we MEET ON COMMON GROUND
And every man becomes a BROTHER who worships God and loves each other.

Motif

Institutions like Dillard University possess their own unique personalities. Dillard's personality is fashioned by its multitude of exposures and experiences. The pioneers, philanthropists, the teachers, the administrators, and the community have all contributed to the success of Dillard University for over a century. Dillard's vigor, creativity, and aspirations stem partly from the fact that its progenitors, New Orleans University and Straight College, were giants among early institutions of higher learning—black or white.

Dillard feels that it is a special purpose "community." That which sets it apart from the larger society is its emphasis upon the gathering, sharing, and usage of knowledge and its determined pursuit of truth. Dillard often interprets the outward manifestation of its philosophy in the statement: "Dillard is dedicated to the development of men and women to live a good life, to make a good living, and to be responsible citizens."

Dillard University prepares its students to work, compete, and function in a highly industrialized, complex, technological, pluralistic, and ever-changing society. Dillard will continue to produce graduates who will possess a system of values—exhibiting an inner character that enables them to make sound, ethical and humanistic choices.

In order to achieve its very worthy, challenging, historic mission, and objectives, Dillard not only provides students with a sound well-balanced curriculum, but it also insists that all academic experiences should have significant depth or quality as well as sufficient scope.

At every stage of its development Dillard University has made unusual, often unprecedented efforts to relate to the complex, and sometimes unique needs of its students. Dillard prepares its students not only to better serve the Black community PER SE, but also prepares them for equal, stiff, persistent competition with all other college graduates for top level positions in this complex society which we are a part of.

Dillard is concerned with the total development of its students. There is no AVERAGE Dillard student. Each is an individual, unique person in his own right. The Dillard student is exposed to a variety of significant enriching learning experiences. The university establishes a climate of intellectual rigor, competition, hard work, discipline, zest—and excitement. College life at Dillard entails both the pursuit of job or professional preparation, while at the same time, includes fun thus OUR THEME:

"DILLARD THE EPITOME OF FINER EDUCATION . . .
BECAUSE INTEGRITY MAKES THE DIFFERENCE!!!"

Fair Dillard

Fair Dillard,

Gleaming white and spacious green,
We love thy every blade and tree;
We love thy breathless days, thy nights serene,
Thy halls where men are men and free.
Arise, O sons and daughters, hail thy queen,
And pledge for aye thy loyalty.

Fair Dillard,

Flaming love and learning's light
Teach us each day, each passing hour
A deep'ning love beauty, truth, and right
Source of all nobleness and pow'r.
And through the joyous day, the dreaded night.
Forever guide, Alma Mater!
Forever guide, Alma Mater!

Dillard's Heritage

Dillard's history dates back to 1869 when on June 12, the American Missionary Association of the Congregation Church founded Straight University, and on July 8, the Freedman's Aid Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church established Union Normal School. The above institutions were subsequently renamed Straight College and New Orleans University, respectively. It was their merger on June 6, 1930 which gave birth to Dillard.

Dillard University opened its doors a few months following the seventieth anniversary of the end of the Civil War. The early Negro colleges were the fruitage of an age of idealism and great spiritual aspiration. They carried over into the post-war period the enthusiasm of the anti-slavery movement, but they added to that active flame the practical humanitarianism of high-minded men and women willing to consecrate their lives to the completion of the national task of emancipation. New Orleans University and Straight College were two of the first outposts established, and their long record of intellectual achievements and of character development becomes a portion of the academic heritage of Dillard University, their successor.

Dillard University was named for James Hardy Dillard, who was formerly connected with Tulane University in New Orleans, and who served 1907 to 1931 as president of the Jeanes Foundation for Negro Rural Schools. His service in the cause of the education of Negro children was universally known. It was primarily concerned with the bringing of the light of knowledge to the humblest Negro child in the back country.

Dillard—Edifice Wise

The Campus

Located on a 62-acre tract in a residential section of New Orleans, Dillard's campus has been called one of the nation's most beautiful. The main campus consists of 19 white buildings.

Aside from the facilities on the main campus, Flint-Goodridge Hospital is an important adjunct for clinical instruction in nursing.

The University houses science, psychology, nursing, business administration and independent studies laboratories, as well as equipment to augment the teaching of English, speech and foreign languages.

Kearney Hall

Often referred to as the Student Union Building, is the hub of many student activities. It houses the bookstore, snack bar, student lounge, game rooms and offices of the Dean of Students, Student Government Association, yearbook and newspaper staff.

Albert W. Dent Hall

The health and physical education building, Albert W. Dent Hall, in addition to classrooms and offices, has a standard collegiate-size swimming pool, a regulation basketball court, bowling lanes and space for teacher training of the physically handicapped. The building has three basketball practice courts, space for volleyball and indoor tennis courts and separate locker room and shower facilities for men and women.

Rosenwald Hall

Houses most of the major administrative offices, the Division of the Social Sciences and the Division of Humanities. Classes are also held in Rosenwald Hall.

Stern Hall

Houses the Division of the Natural Sciences and the Division of Nursing.

The Will Alexander Library

Supplements instruction and provides a well-balanced collection of cultural and reading materials.

Students may also apply to the University library for interlibrary loan privileges at other colleges and university libraries in New Orleans.

The Amistad Research Center

The Dillard campus is the repository for the Amistad Research Center, one of the world's outstanding collections of original manuscripts on the history of the civil rights concept in the United States. Over seven million manuscripts, letters and other items are included in the Center's archives, which are open to researchers, undergraduate and graduate students.

Correspondence and other works written by and about such people as James Weldon Johnson, John Wesley Dobbs, W.E.B. DuBois, Frederick Douglas, Henry Highland Garnett, Countee Cullen, Langston Hughes, George L. Ruddin, and James H. Robinson can be found in the Center, along with correspondence from numerous presidents.

Lawless Memorial Chapel

The Lawless Memorial Chapel is the center of Dillard's religious life. Religious services are conducted by ministers of various denominations. Apart from worship itself, appreciation for the arts is expressed through recitals, concerts and lectures. The Chapel is non-denominational.

To the Memory of Lola Broussard

Lola was a challenging and stimulating student here at Dillard University. She was fun loving and just a nice person to get along with. She was congenial and this trait was exemplified throughout her character, even in her division—Nursing. Your family misses you, the nursing division & it's students miss you, we—The Dillard Family, miss YOU.

In your memory we dedicate the immortal words of that inspirational poet. Helen Steiner Rice.

BE OF GOOD CHEER—
THERE'S NOTHING TO FEAR!

Cheerful thoughts like sunbeams
Lighten up the "darkest fears"
For when the heart is happy
There's just no time for tears—
And when the face is smiling
It's impossible to frown,
And when you are "high spirited"
You cannot feel "low-down"—
For the nature of our attitude
Toward circumstantial things
Determines our acceptance
Of the problems that life brings,
And since fear and dread and worry
Cannot help in any way,
It's much healthier and happier
To be cheerful every day—
And if you'll only try it
You will find, without a doubt,
A cheerful attitude's something
No one should be without—
For when the heart is cheerful
It cannot be filled with fear,
And without fear the way ahead
Seems more distinct and clear—
And we realize there's nothing
We need ever face alone
For our HEAVENLY FATHER loves us
And our problems are His own.

Dillard's Administrative Officers

The continuing mission of Dillard University is to create and maintain an atmosphere conducive to learning and growth through programs of academic excellence within the framework of the liberal arts tradition. With particular emphasis on professional and business careers, Dillard prepares its students to work, compete, and function in a highly industrialized, complex, technological, pluralistic, and ever-changing society. Dillard will continue to produce graduates who possess a system of values, exhibiting an inner character that enables them to make sound, ethical and humanistic choices.

This mission is and will continue to be administered through: (a) creative and quality programs of instruction, research, and community services; (b) efficient, effective and participative administration and planning; (c) personalized student services; (d) sound business and financial affairs; and (e) imaginative institutional development.

LOCATION

New Orleans

Dillard lies in the heart of New Orleans, birthplace of Dixieland Jazz and such greats as Louis Armstrong and Mahalia Jackson. A curious blend of various cultures, New Orleans is one of the most exciting cities in the country. A steady flow of foreign visitors and merchants come through the Port of New Orleans—one of the largest in the nation. Many of those visitors decide to stay and the city is, therefore, highly cosmopolitan.

New Orleans is known the world over for the French Quarter—distinguished for its fine restaurants, art galleries and unique wrought-iron buildings. A few blocks from the old world charm of the French Quarter are streets lined with skyscrapers and modern buildings. And don't forget Mardi Gras, that annual period of Parades! Balls! and Madness!

Living Accommodations

Separate dormitories are provided for men and women students. Students living in the dormitories take their meals in the University dining room which is opened for three (3) meals per day, seven (7) days per week. A trained dietitian plans the meals and supervises the preparation of food.

Out-of-town students who desire to live on campus should file an application for housing with the Office of the Dean of Students. A deposit of $50 is required. Students from New Orleans who wish to reside on campus must submit a written request, defining reason for campus residency, to the Dean of Students. Upon approval from the Office of the Dean of Students, the New Orleans student should file an application for housing, along with the $50 deposit. Accommodations are reserved only on the basis of date of receipt of deposit. The deposit is not refundable.

The University reserves all rights in connection with assignment of rooms, inspection of rooms with notice, and termination of occupancy of rooms.

A student in good standing at an accredited college or university may be admitted to Dillard University as a transient student for a specified period of time, usually not more than one term.

A statement by the Academic Dean or Registrar of the applicant's regular college indicating good standing and approval of the desired courses is required. It is the responsibility of the transient student to check with the academic department offering the desired courses at Dillard to determine if he has met course prerequisites and/or has the necessary preparation to take the course(s).

It must be clearly understood that transient enrollment does not constitute formal matriculation as a degree candidate. If at any time the transient student desires to change his status and enroll as a degree-seeking student, he must make formal application and meet the admissions requirements as a transfer applicant.

The Division of Natural Sciences is a dynamic, academic component of Dillard University which offers a broad spectrum of courses designed to satisfy the needs of non-science students who pursue natural science courses which support majors in other disciplines; students who seek to satisfy basic science requirements for entering the clinical areas of nursing and students who major in one of the natural sciences or mathematics. The Division offers majors in biology, chemistry, mathematics and physics and has excellent programs in pre-dentistry, pre-engineering, pre-medicine, pre-optometry, and pre-veterinary medicine.

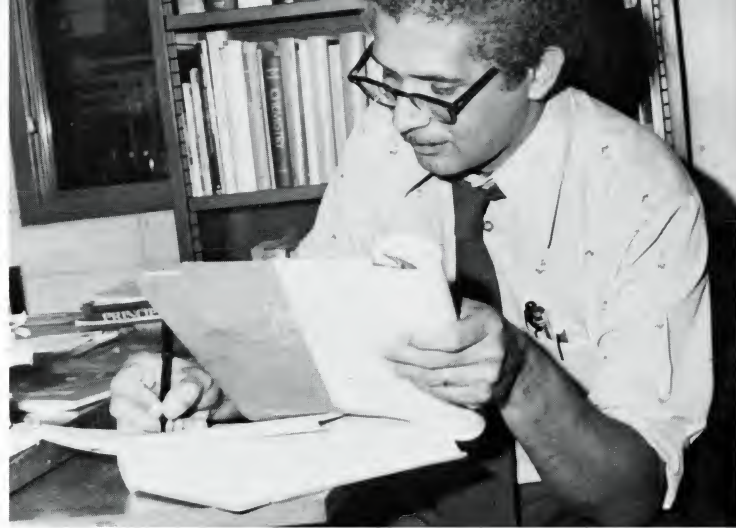

The Division is housed in a modern, air conditioned building with a variety of modern scientific equipment. More than 110 of our graduates have gone on to earn doctorate degrees in various fields of the natural sciences, mathematics, and such professions as medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine, and optometry. We currently have 22 graduates enrolled in medical and dental schools throughout the United States. Many of our graduates hold very important professional positions such as the following: President or Vice President of Colleges; executives in federal and private agencies; research scientists and mathematicians; chairpersons of divisions and departments; Practicing physicians, dentists, veterinarians, and optometrists; and a variety of other significant positions.

Division of Education

The curriculum in the Division of Education is competency-based to allow maximum growth for each individual student. This is done by carefully developing behavioral objectives and/or competencies that provide the requisite skills for cognitive, affective and psychomotor learning and growth.

The program is designed to produce an individual:

1. who is competent in his field or fields.
2. who has a sincere interest and commitment to teaching as a profession and a continuing interest in professional development in his special field or fields.
3. who has a philosophy of education and life consistent with the society in which he lives.
4. who can communicate effectively both orally and written.
5. who exhibits openness and flexibility in teaching and learning.
6. who is sensitive to factors that influence learning and has a variety of strategies to use in teaching.
7. who can make decisions, has initiative and acquired confidence and responsibility for implementing these abilities.
8. who can work effectively as a member of a professional team and has a desirable professional attitude.
9. who can design and implement procedures to diagnose and evaluate the performance of his students as well as his own performance as a teacher.
10. who can plan a variety of learning experiences and select and devise instructional materials appropriate to the needs and interest of learners.
11. who exhibits poise and confidence in managing a classroom.
12. who serves as a good role model for students, parents and the community at large.

The Division of Education offers a major in early childhood, special, elementary education, health and physical education and psychology. Students in secondary education may select a major in art, biology, chemistry, drama and speech, English, French, mathematics, music, Spanish, and social science.

The Division of Humanities deals with cultural life as expressed in literature and the arts. Major instructional fields in the division are: art, English, drama and speech, foreign languages (French, German, Spanish), music, and philosophy and religion. Offerings are designed to meet the interests and the problems of today's people.

Art

The art area offers courses leading to a major in art education for persons planning to teach at the secondary school level as well as providing an art-related emphasis in special areas. Special attention is called to courses planned for the non-major; that is, for those persons who wish to experiment with some form of art expression. Some new courses deal with developments of recent origin in sensory experience.

English

A student majoring in English may look forward to a variety of professions such as teaching, law, communications, journalism, etc. Since the English language and its literature are closely related to the other European languages and literatures, a student majoring in English and English education is advised to elect as early as possible one of the modern languages offered at Dillard. Most graduate schools require an entering student of English to have a good reading knowledge of at least one foreign language, preferably French or German.

Drama and Speech

Theoretical courses in drama are combined with practical work on stage and back-stage. Speech courses are designed to increase the student's effective use of speech. In addition to classroom work, drama majors are expected to participate in all phases of major productions and in workshop productions mounted by students in the department under the supervision of a faculty member.

Courses in speech and drama are designed to fulfill the following objectives: (1) to provide competent high school teachers of speech and drama, and coaches of high school, community, and church dramatic groups; (2) to provide theatrical enrichment for the college and community; (3) to prepare talented and capable students for graduate study in speech and drama; (4) to prepare students for community and professional theatre work; and (5) to teach students to speak with clarity and correctness.

Foreign Languages

The foreign language area offers courses in three languages—French, German and Spanish. The area prepares students for graduate work and teaching at the secondary level in Spanish and French and for a variety of interesting careers in such situations as consular offices or organizations dealing with foreign trade. Students who have completed two or more years of high school work in a modern foreign language are tested and, if they receive a passing mark, are placed in the 201-202 course. All others enter 101-102. French majors and students carrying French as supportive to their respective majors are required to attend the 201-202 Honors section.

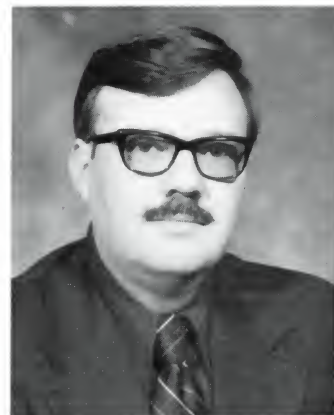

Music

The music program at Dillard University is designed to fulfill the requirements for a Bachelor of Arts degree in music or music education. A major in music education for the Bachelor of Arts degree offers a less specialized program of study than in the Bachelor of Arts in applied music. Students in both programs must pass a piano proficiency test. All other general and distribution requirements must be met. Students who wish to emphasize performance are admitted to the program at the end of their sophomore year only if they have achieved sufficient repertoire and proficiency. They are required to play a full recital in their junior and senior year.

Division of Social Sciences

In the Division of the Social Sciences, courses are offered in three general areas of concentration: economics and business administration; history and political science; sociology and anthropology and social welfare.

The division has both general and specific objectives. Its general objectives are: (1) to assist the student in achieving the necessary knowledge for personal, social and vocational development; (2) to provide cultural background for the student whose major interests lie in other divisions; and (3) to help the student develop the necessary tools of thought, drawing on both science and experience, to enable him to arrive at valid and usable judgments.

The specific objectives of the division are: (1) to encourage productive scholarship; (2) to provide basic preprofessional training for students interested in law and international relations, civil and governmental service, economics, business and institutional management, sociology, and social work; (3) to provide those students interested in secondary and collegiate teaching with the necessary subject-matter preparation; and (4) to assist students in preparing for expanding vocational opportunities in a rapidly changing society.

Division of Nursing

At Dillard University, nursing begins with the recognition of the needs for competent nurses to help solve the health problems of the nation. The nursing program aims to develop your ability to think logically, communicate effectively and make relevant judgements. Its major goal is to qualify nursing students for professional practice and for graduate study. The curriculum emphasizes a solid program in the nursing sciences, as well as a knowledge of general studies.

The Division of Nursing is accredited by the Louisiana State Board for Nursing and the National League for Nursing.

The Amistad Research Center

The Amistad Research Center was founded in 1966 by the American Missionary Association (now part of the Board for Homeland Ministries of the United Church of Christ) and six A.M.A.-affiliated colleges. With the archives of the A.M.A. as a core (one million items from 1839 to 1960) the center has collected more than eight million manuscripts dating from the late 1700's to the 1970's. These include letters, minutes of meetings, essays, speeches, novels, and poems. This historical raw material documents the rise and fall of slavery, the subjugation of the American Indian, the social histories of various immigrant groups, and the efforts of individuals and groups to make the ideals of American democracy a reality.

The Amistad Research Center is a library archive dedicated to collecting primary source materials pertaining to the history of America's ethnic minorities, race relations and civil rights. The center makes this information available to persons doing research in these fields and reaches a broader audience through teaching, publications, radio, television, exhibits, and tours. The work of the Center is essential in overcoming past neglect and distorted treatment of America's minorities in history, literature and basic textbooks.

THE AMISTAD INCIDENT

The strange tale of La Amistad and its "cargo" of fifty-three Africans began in 1839. The Africans had been abducted in Sierra Leone, transported to Havana, and sold as slaves in violation of the laws and treaties of Spain, Cuba's mother country. José Ruiz, who had purchased forty-nine men, and Pedro Montes, who had purchased four children, booked passage on the slave transport La Amistad to take the Africans to Guanaja.

On the third day out from Havana, led by one Cinqué, the Africans revolted, took control of the ship, and ordered the surviving Spaniards to sail toward Africa, "where the sun rises." But each night the Spaniards, who could navigate by the stars, would turn the ship toward the northwest so that eventually it came to Montauk, on the tip of Long Island, where La Amistad was seized by an American naval vessel. The American captain claimed salvage rights to both the ship and its "cargo". The Spaniards claimed violation of their property rights as guaranteed by treaties between the United States and Spain. While the claimants prepared to go to court, the Africans were jailed in Connecticut and charged with piracy and murder.

When word of the Amistad incident reached New York, a group of abolitionists, headed by Lewis Tappan, Joshua Leavitt, and Simeon Jocelyn, formed the Amistad Committee to defend the Africans. As the case moved through the courts, the Spanish government pressed President Van Buren and the Justice Department to turn the Africans over to Spain. But the courts retained jurisdiction, and, finally, John Quincy Adams argued the case before the U.S. Supreme court, which ruled that the Africans were free and ordered them returned to their homeland.

"Wicked people want to make us slaves but the great God who made all things raise up friends for Mendi people he give us Mr. Adams that he may make me free" (Letter from Kali, one of the Amistad captives, to John Quincy Adams)

Out of this case and the Amistad Committee, the American Missionary Association (A.M.A.) was founded and it has, from that day to this, been in the forefront of the fight for justice, equality and dignity for all men and women. The A.M.A. became more than a leader in the anti-slavery movement, founding hundreds of abolitionist churches throughout the country, and, after the Civil War, establishing over a thousand schools for African Americans, Appalachian whites, Asian Americans, Chicanos, Puerto Ricans, and Native Americans. Distinguished colleges and universities that emerged from these efforts include Atlanta, Berea, Dillard, Fisk, Hampton, Huston-Tillotson, LeMoyne-Owen, Piedmont, Talladega, and Tougaloo.

The very nature of a true college education; is inseparable from the use of the Will W. Alexander Library. The staff, consisting of eight persons, working closely with students in their pursuits of knowledge. Constant formal instructions on the techniques of locating materials are given to students.

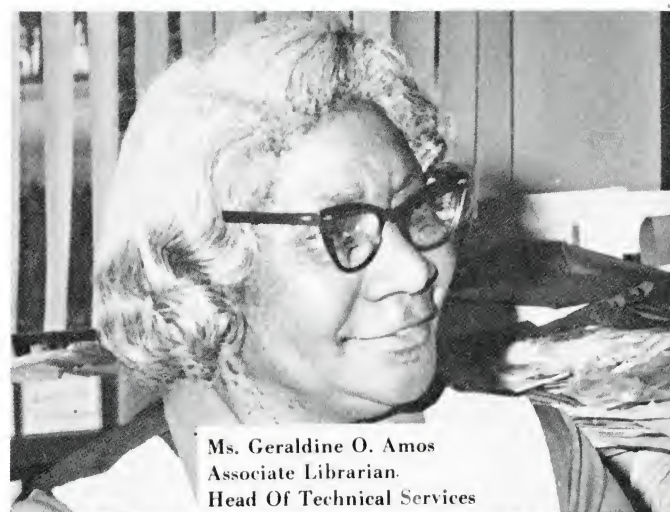

The well rounded collection, consisting of over 118,000 volumes, 689 subscriptions to all types of journals, 49 newspapers, 900 records and tapes, and 4,481 roles of microfilms of journals' and newspapers are available for the convenience of students. The main objectives of the different formats and open stacks are; to develop the habit of using libraries as a continuing life long educational process, to support the mission and curriculum of Dillard and provide an atmosphere of learning.

The Library Series, a number of informal programs on timely topics, have added an extra dimension to increase the awareness of students to changes, trends, and how learning can take place other than the classroom.

FRESHMEN ON THE MOVE

The class of 1982 has crossed many horizons in making its adjustment into the Dillard family. "Dillard the Epitome of Finer Education . . . because Integrity Makes the Difference" is typified in the Freshman Class, not only because of their capabilities, but because they are now Dillard's youngest men and women branching out to make their best better.

As freshmen, they honestly believe that if they reached for the stars, they could actually obtain them—they almost did! Without some of the responsibilities our upperclass friends had to face, the freshman class was free to do what they did best—be the "fresh ones."

The freshman class is highly motivated in making the class of '82 the best class ever. They implemented their plan by hosting a Calendar Model Pageant on Dillard's campus making another first for the freshman class. The pageant was a success for it showed their desire to try new activities, promote the social life on Dillard's campus, and uplift the student morale.

Sophomores Are Pursuing Knowledge

Be it intellectual twilight or the infinite pursuit of academic excellence, our unique elements of character combine to form creative solutions to the complex problems of the decade.

Aware of our position, caught between the pendulum of time and the vice of truth, we are but another inseparable link of the chain of integrity created by our forefathers.

So be it, the Sophomore-Class Proud, Productive, and Positive.

A New Beginning for Seniors

The class of 1979 can reflect the yearbook theme because they are on the last leg of their academic journey. The nearing of the termination of four years of preparation proves that their integrity, so far has made the difference. For the seniors of 1979 the journey on which they are about to embark will prove successful only when significant use is made of their learning experiences to make the difference. Seniors of 1979 we salute you.

Miss Dillard and Her Attendants

There has never been a more beautiful Miss Dillard or a more captivating court than the 1978-1979 Homecoming Court of Dillard University. Their poise and personalities were only surpassed by that of their queen's, Miss Andrea Maria Bohler. She reigned with a splendor more magnificent than that of Queen Elizabeth herself. The scenery at the New Orleans Museum of Art provided an artistic quality that enhanced their already vibrant spirits.

We pay homage to the 1978-1979 Homecoming Court of Dillard University—

Andrea In Full Bloom

ANDREA MARIA BOHLER, "Miss Dillard 1978-79," was born on June 6, 1957 in Gray, Georgia. She is the beautiful daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Napoleon Bohler. Andrea has one older sister and three younger brothers.

Andrea attended Jones County High School in Gray. While there, she was involved in many school activities and organizations. Andrea was captain of the cheerleader's squad and an active member of the Student Council, Yearbook Staff, Psychology Club, Choir, and Explorers Club. In her senior year of high school she won the titles: Homecoming Queen and Miss Black Middle Georgia.

In preparing for college after high school graduation, Andrea searched for a small black institution that was highly accredited—where she could receive personal attention and not be just a number as in the larger universities. Because of these reasons and because of New Orleans being a cultural city, Andrea chose Dillard University to pursue her higher education.

She has been an active part of this institution since arriving as a freshman. Since her freshman year, Andrea has been involved with three choirs (Women's Glee Club, University & Concert where she has held the office of secretary during her freshman & junior years in the latter two). She is presently serving as President of the Concert Choir with whom she recently toured the country. She is also a member of the Drama Guild, Drama Productions, Busecon Society, Student Government Association, and a proud member of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority. Andrea was voted Miss Freshman UNCF in 1975 and Miss Junior in 1976.

It was the Spring of 1978 when the Student Body of Dillard University nominated and voted ANDREA MARIA BOHLER as QUEEN of Dillard University. This past summer, Andrea received an internship at Bowet Teller in New York, New York, where she worked as an executive trainee in order to become an assistant buyer.

Andrea sees Dillard as being a progressive Black institution that will always maintain its prestige and academic achievements. She feels that Dr. Cook's motto, "ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE" is far reaching because it provides a means by which the black students of this great institution will be on a higher level to successfully compete in today's society. Andrea also feels that the administration and faculty have been very helpful in providing encouragement and educational assistance for students who are searching for a quality college education. When Miss Dillard was asked what she would change about the institution she said, "I would create a stronger bond between the American & International students and upgrade Dillard's fine art areas. I might add that I love Dillard's campus. It is one of the most beautiful in the whole U. S. of A., and I am more than happy that I made Dillard University my choice."

Picturesque Milestones

The University sponsors numerous events and organizations through which students may broaden their social and cultural development. All student organizations and activities have educational values complementary to those derived from taking formal credit courses.

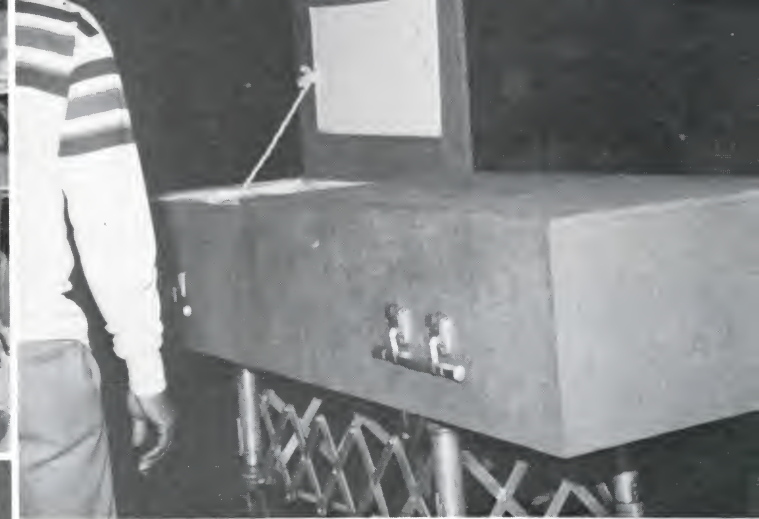

Participation in any officially recognized student group is subject to University regulations. Standards and regulations governing student organizations are formulated by the Committee on Student Affairs.

The Dean of Student Affairs is available for advice and counsel to student organizations.

Each student activity or organization should have at least one faculty sponsor who will be responsible to the University for the proper functioning of the group. All sponsors must be nominated from the faculty or staff of the University. The sponsors are subject to approval by the President of the University. Sponsors should be present at all meetings and social affairs of their organizations.

All student organizations must go through a process of recognition in order to operate. Requests for the organization of new clubs and activities should be submitted to the Committee on Student Affairs. The committee submits its recommendations to the University President for his approval. The request should include a statement of purpose and objectives and must be consistent with the objectives of Dillard University.

Founders' Day

The Annual Observance of Founders' Day was held on Sunday October 22, 1978 in Lawless Memorial Chapel, four o'clock in the evening on Dillard's beautiful campus with Dr. Samuel DuBois Cook, President, Presiding. The program began with the processional—Trumpet Voluntary in D by Purcell played magnificently by University Organist, Dr. Herman D. Taylor. The audience then sang O God, Our Help in Ages Past with invocation given by Dr. David E. Chambers, pastor of the Central Congregational Church, here in New Orleans. The Occasion was given by the President & following him was the Dillard University Choir under the direction of S. Carver Davenport singing Lewandowski's Psalm 150.

The crowd received the Founders' Day Address by Bishop J. Kenneth Shamblin of the United Methodist Church, Louisiana area with much praise & admiration. Fair Dillard was sung and the benediction was given by Dr. Morris Burrell '44, pastor of the Mount Zion Baptist Church of New Orleans. The recessional followed and the audience was then invited for a reception at the President's residence. This was a most beautiful occasion!

"For My People"

For my people everywhere singing their slave songs repeatedly: their dirgies and their ditties and their blues and jubilees, praying their prayers nightly to an unknown god, bending their knees humbly to an unseen power;

For my people lending their strength to the years, to the gone years and the now years and the maybe years, washing ironing cooking scrubbing sewing mending hoeing plowing digging planting pruning patching dragging along never gaining never reaping never knowing and never understanding;

For my playmates in the clay and dust and sand of Alabama backyards playing baptizing and preaching and doctor and jail and soldier and school and mama and cooking and playhouse and concert and store and hair and Miss Choomby and company;

For the cramped bewildered years we went to school to learn to know the reasons why and the answers to and the people who and the places where and the days when, in memory of the bitter hours when we discovered we were black and poor and small and different and nobody cared and nobody wondered and nobody understood;

For the boys and girls who grew in spite of these things to be man and woman, to laugh and dance and sing and play and drink their wine and religion and success, to marry their playmates and bear children and then die of consumption and anemia and lynching;

For my people thronging 47th Street in Chicago and Lenox Avenue in New York and Rampart Street in New Orleans, lost disinherited dispossessed and happy people filling the cabarets and taverns and other people's pockets needing bread and shoes and milk and land and money and something—something all our own;

For my people walking blindly spreading joy, losing time being lazy, sleeping when hungry, shouting when burdened, drinking when hopeless, tied and shackled and tangled among ourselves by the unseen creatures who tower over us omnisciently and laugh;

For my people blundering and groping and floundering in the dark of churches and schools and clubs and societies, associations and councils and committees and conventions, distressed and disturbed and deceived and devoured by money-hungry glory-craving leeches, preyed on by facile force of state and fad and novelty, by false prophet and holy believer;

For my people standing staring trying to fashion a better way from confusion, from hypocrisy and misunderstanding, trying to fashion a world that will hold all the people, all the faces, all the adams and eves and their countless generations;

Let a new earth rise. Let another world be born. Let a bloody peace be written in the sky. Let a second generation full of courage issue forth; let a people loving freedom come to growth. Let a beauty full of healing and a strength of final clenching be the pulsing in our spirits and our blood. Let the martial songs be written, let the dirges disappear. Let a race of men now rise and take control."

It's the Mardi Gras Dance

The 1979 Carnival Dance was held at Dillard University in Henson Hall by that Swinging Freshman Class. Oliver Williams was the coordinator. The dance proved to be real successful in that students had a chance to be whatever they wanted to be without pressure from the outside world. The students enjoyed themselves tremendously & it looks like we will have another dance of this nature in 1980.

Three Cheers for the Freshman Class!!!

Athletics Athletics Athletics

Message from the President of the University

Athletics are a vital part of the Dillard experience. Athletic activities—both intercollegiate and intramural—play a significant educational, recreational, professional, and humanistic role and function at Dillard.

We love our student-athletes (both male and female) and recognize and celebrate their total contribution to the life and quality of experience at this great and blessed institution. Our scholar-athletes bless and enrich us all and make us all their beneficiaries.

There is no intrinsic incompatibility between athletics and academics, academic excellence and athletic excellence. Indeed, in principle, athletic excellence and academic excellence are mutually reinforcing and supporting rather than incompatible, antagonistic, and contradictory. They are complementary. They are, or at least should be, friends, not foes. At Dillard, we want both academic excellence and athletic excellence.

Genuine athletics, in the grand tradition, teach and inculcate important values and lessons for human life, living, and collective relationships. Athletics should teach the hard and enduring lessons of discipline, dedication, commitment, industry, preparation, sportsmanship, concentration, sacrifice, cooperation, teamwork, competition, the doing of one's best at all times, vigilance, determination, constant effort, resilience, human community, the hidden reserves of the human spirit, self-mastery, and the infinite rewards and satisfaction of a job well done.

Athletics should teach the supreme importance of basic skills, fundamentals, hard work, and constant preparation. These are important in the whole of human life. There is no substitute for preparation.

Athletics should teach how to win and lose with dignity, poise, grace, and equanimity. Courage has been defined as "grace under pressure." We should learn something from the athletic experience about how to deal with the constant heavy pressures of life—crushing pressures that always crowd in upon us throughout life's encounters.

Athletics should teach something about the significance of a healthy body and sound, sharp, quick mind which can react to, and cope with, various situations and surprises.

Thus understood, athletics are a means to an end—the enrichment, betterment, and fulfillment of human life and experience.

To be a good athlete at Dillard, one must be a good student. Poor athletes and poor students go together. Good athletes and good students go hand-in-hand. Excellent athletes and excellent students are a "thing of beauty and a joy forever."

At Dillard, there are no "special" courses or programs for athletes. It is significant that the vast majority of our athletes graduate with their classes (which is infinitely above the average of the general student body), and many finish with honors.

While several of our athletes have been drafted by professional teams, Dillard's primary concern is with the total student, the whole person, human excellence and virtue in general.

So, we are happy to salute our student-athletes, and thank them for enriching and enlarging the life and destiny of Dillard. Bless you, "Blue Devils" and "Blue Devillettes." We love you!

JOHN O. BROWN—COACH

Coach John O. Brown is entering his 12th season as head coach at Dillard University, and only twice have his Blue Devils not produced a winning season. He is a native of Tusculumbia, Alabama, where he attended public schools. He earned his B. S. degree from Alabama State College, and M. Ed. degree from Tennessee A. & I. State University. He received his Educational Specialist degree from the University of Alabama. His eleven-year record, as head basketball coach, is 160 wins & 104 losses for .606 average.

WALTER C. TILLMAN—ASSISTANT COACH

Walter C. Tillman, a native of New Orleans, La., completed his elementary and secondary education in the public schools of Gulfport, Miss. He received the B. A. degree from Dillard University, 1967, and Master's of Education, Southern University, Baton Rouge, 1971. He has done graduate study at the University of Virginia and University of New Orleans. He is head track coach, and has served as Clinician in Track and Field for the Mexican Sports Confederation-American Alliance of Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

MARY D. TEAMER—COACH DEVILETTES

Mary J. Teamer has the distinction of being Dillard University's first women's basketball coach, a position she has held for four years.

A native of Hartsville, South Carolina, Mrs. Teamer attended Wilson Elementary and High School in Florence, South Carolina, and received her B.S. degree from South Carolina State College in Orangeburg. She has done graduate study at Orangeburg State College and Xavier University, where she is currently working towards her Master's degree.

Before coming to Dillard, Mrs. Teamer was coach at Sharperson Junior High School in Orangeburg, and her basketball team won a district championship. She also coached volleyball at Nelson Elementary School in New Orleans.

In 1976-77, Mrs. Teamer was named by both Dillard and the National Basketball Sports Foundation as "Women's Basketball Coach of the Year."

Team Outlook — 1978-79
"The Blue Devils" '10

Dillard University's basketball coach John O. Brown is dedicating himself to "restructuring the Blue Devils for the 1978-79 season."

Coming behind two losing seasons, Brown finds it necessary, after compiling a handsome 10-year record of 150 wins and 87 losses for a .634 average, a good record in any circle. However, numbers 10 and 11 were not good to Brown nor Dillard. In 1976-77, when his talented charges should have played in post-season competition, the Blue Devils were 12-13, and 10-17 when the final curtain was drawn on the 1977-78 campaign.

Brown is working on a new formula, which may be considered drastic, but necessary. To begin with, he has announced that there are no "locked-in positions." Returnees, including lettermen, will have to prove their worth and value. "We are calling it the 'addition and subtraction' table formula, and it will be up to each player to decide which one of the categories he will fall into," said Brown.

Brown is noncommittal concerning "subtractions" or "additions," but he did have an extensive recruitment program, and kept in contact with his players over the summer months, primarily to see that they would return in fairly good physical condition.

The Blue Devils will play a 25-game schedule this season, which includes back-to-back tournaments. The Atlanta University Center Classic, December 20-21, in Atlanta, Ga., featuring Morehouse College, Morris Brown, Paine and Dillard, and the Spring Hill College Tournament, December 29-30, in Mobile, Ala., which will include, in addition to the Blue Devils, William Carey, Livingston State, and host Spring Hill.

The Blue Devils play home-to-home series with Florida A&M, Alcorn State, LeMoyné-Owen, Southern University in New Orleans, Tougaloo College, Alabama State (Montgomery), Stillman College, Louisiana College, and Arkansas Baptist (Little Rock), a new addition this season.

Charles Hightower, a 6'6", junior, center/forward, is Dillard's "Mr. Basketball." The Quincy, Fla. native is respected by both teammates and opponents for his player/ability. Last season Hightower, led in total points scored and rebounds, with respective game averages of 23.4 and 12.8, which included 29 rebounds against SUNO's Black Knights for a new individual game performance record, that had been held by George Johnson, now with the New Jersey Nets, for 10 years. Johnson's record of 27 rebounds was made in 1967 against Prairie View College.

Comparing Johnson and Hightower, Brown is of the opinion that Hightower, after two years of varsity competition, is showing more promise than Johnson did. "Hightower is probably the best player that Dillard has produced in recent years," said Brown.

Two other Dillard players have been drafted by professional teams. Malbert Pradd, the first, had the misfortune of being drafted by the now defunct New Orleans Buccaneers, and Billy Ray Hobley, '77, by the Harlem Globetrotters.

Hightower is a business administration major. He has another year of eligibility. Only professional basketball would be the loser if Hightower is not drafted by a professional franchise. Like all Dillard athletes, the achievement of academic excellence is his lodestar. Hightower's future is in good hands—his own.

Other returning lettermen are: senior guards, Larry Andrews, Birmingham, Ala.; Mitchell Dukes, Columbia, Miss., and Michael Johnson, Chicago, Ill.; senior forward, Donald Troutman, Gulfport, Miss.; juniors, Allison Farve, guard, Bay St. Louis, Miss., and Reginald Sanders, forward, Montgomery, Ala.; and sophomores, Tawasky Ventroy, guard, Lafayette, La.; James Lofton, forward, Tallahassee, Fla., and William McIntosh, guard, Mobile, Ala. Troutman, Sanders and Johnson will either have starting roles or considerable playing time. Johnson, a terrific outside shooter, should strengthen the Blue Devils' scoring power.

Among the new faces are transfers Darrell Spriggs, Laurel, Miss., who joins the Blue Devils after a brief encounter at Jackson State, and David Hutchinson, a 6'10", center, from Roxbury Junior Community College, Boston, Mass. Brown is hopeful that Hutchinson will give Hightower some relief at center. Spriggs is eligible for action the second semester, when the opposition stiffens and experience is needed.

Wearing the "Blue and White" for the first time are three promising freshmen: Kelvin Phillips, 6'7", forward/center, from Forest Brook High, Houston, Tex.; 6'3" guard, Joe Billingsly, from East Side High, Marion, Ala., and 6'3" forward, Michael Thompson, Bay St. Louis, (Miss.) High.

Dillard has the talent needed to again reach the mountain top in the basketball arena. Two years in the valley is too long, and Brown and Assistant Coach Walter Tillman are looking to high grounds this season.

Season Outlook
"The Lady Blue Devils,
1978-79"

The women's basketball program at Dillard University has opened another dimension of expression for the University's growing female population. Still in their beginning years, in addition to providing a new area of participation for the more athletically inclined female students, the Lady Blue Devils are projecting the University's image into many new publics.

The Lady Blue Devils, also called The Devilettes in some circles, have proven themselves to be great competitors. Coach Mary D. Teamer's charges closed last season with a .500 record, 10-10, which included double wins over Tulane, Delgado, and Spring Hill, single wins or splits with Nicholls State, University of New Orleans, Northeastern, and the University of Southwestern Louisiana.

The Devilettes play a 21-game regular season schedule this year, which includes 11 home games: Louisiana College, Delgado College, McNeese State, University of New Orleans, Southern University, Lambuth College, Southeastern, Nicholls State, Tougaloo College, and Xavier University.

Coach Teamer is in another building year, which is not strange, since Dillard is only in her fourth year of inter-collegiate basketball competition. Only two Devilettes graduated, seniors, Denise Jenkins of Atlanta, Ga., and Peggy Lawson of Benevolence, Ga. This year's player roster is "Half 'N Half" aggregation, seven returnees and seven additions. Coach Teamer has the task of "homogenizing" a working combination from those ingredients.

Spearheading the Lady Blue Devils again will be senior forward Shirley Ragan from Redwood, Miss., who had no prior basketball experience before coming to Dillard. However, through the capable tutelage of Coach Teamer, Miss Ragan is the holder of some 13 individual records. Shirley is Dillard's first female "superstar" basketball player.

Also returning are senior center/forward, Janice Jackson, New Orleans, captain; junior guard, Felicia Smooth, St. Louis, Mo., and sophomores, guard Ruslin Rabsatt and forward, Denise Frazier, St. Thomas, Virgin Islands; Dottie Morris, Lake Charles, center/forward, and Melanie Davis, guard, New Orleans.

Seven top freshmen joined the Lady Blue Devils this season. They are Dianne Williams, a 5'11½" center, from Metairie, La.; guard, Charlene Haynes, 5'4", Bay St. Louis, Miss.; and from New Orleans, Adriene Buggage, 6'0", center/forward; Karen Roberts, 6', center/forward; Phyllis Warner, 5'11½", forward; Pamela Lloyd, 5'10", forward, and Karen Johnson, 4'11", guard.

Although a relatively young team, the Lady Blue Devils' strongest point is depth. "We will be an aggressive team. We have good bench strength, which we need, because I feel that all of our opponents will be stronger and more experienced this year," said Coach Teamer.

Hightower on the defense.

Hightower takes the ball as Reginald approaches.

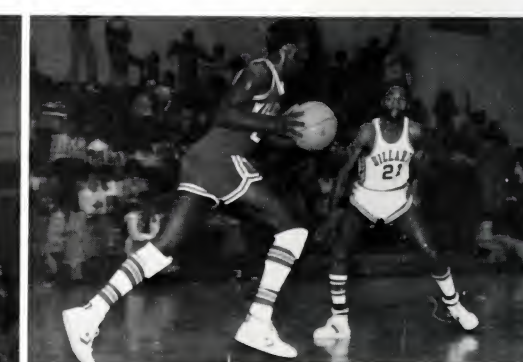

Coach Brown relays a play to Allison, Hightower and Larry.

Allison shoots from the far left as Jim moves in for the rebound.

Reginald shoots over an opponent.

Larry is strong on the defense.

Coach John O. Brown of the Dillard Blue Devils, when asked what makes a good team replied, "There is a need for team work within an organization, top athletes and a lot of depth perception on the part of the coaches as well as the members of the team." Coach Brown also said, "Players need to play competitively."

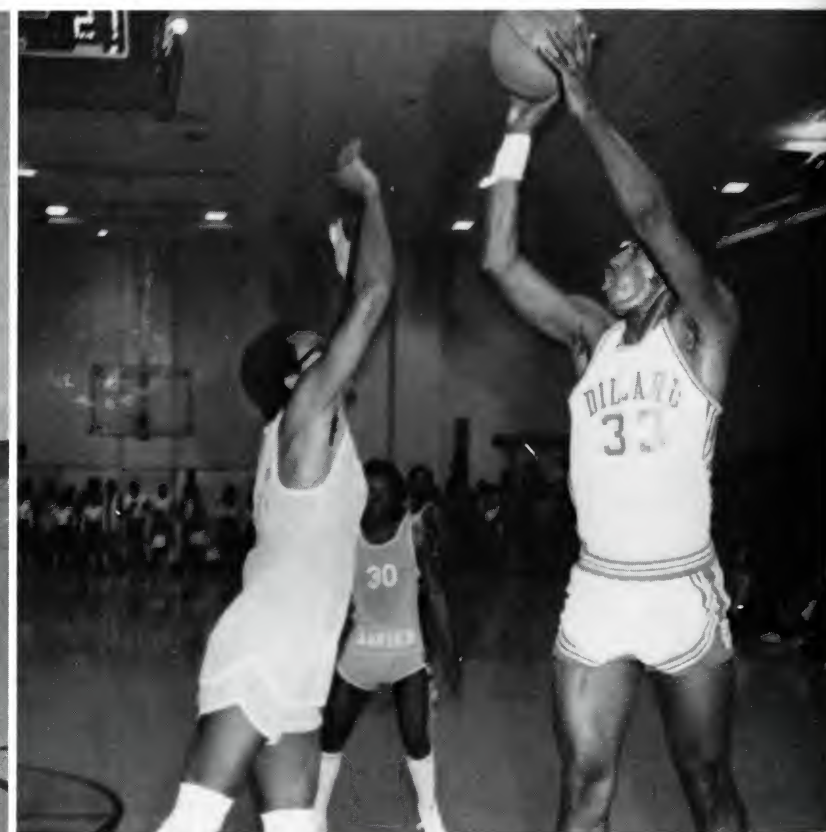

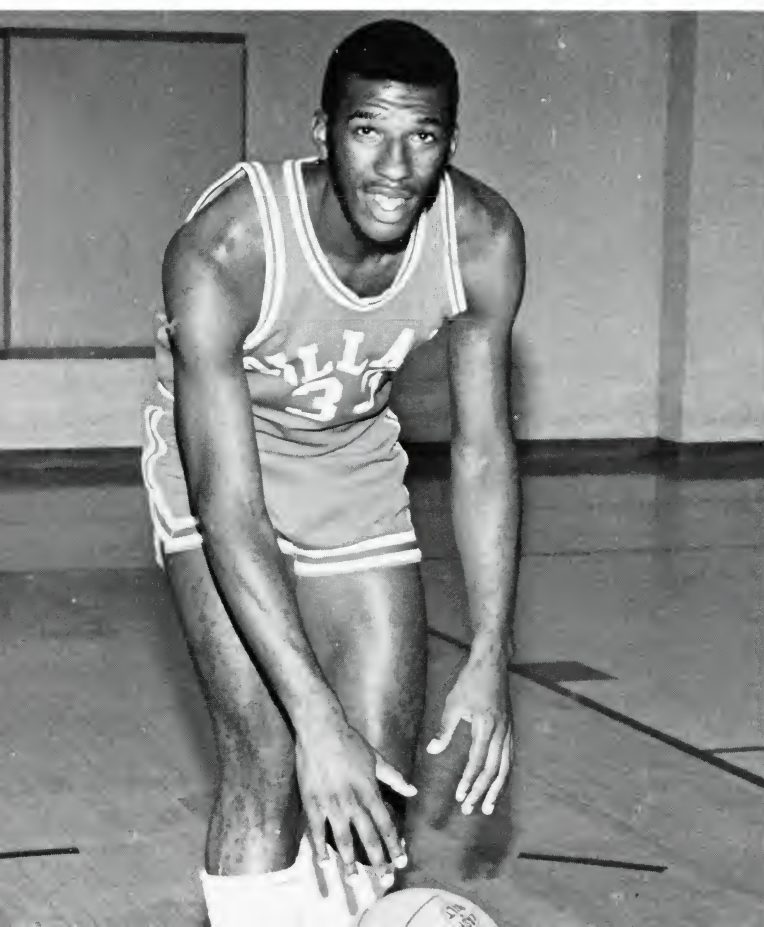

Coach Brown considers the Blue Devils of 1978-1979 a young team, but he has a lot of confidence in them. Coach Brown along with Assistant Coach Tillman, and trainers led the Blue Devils to the playoffs.

Coach Teamer Says . . .

The 1978-79 edition of the Dillard University Blue Devilettes has the best outlook of its' four year existence. The team record has improved in each of its previous seasons. Reasons for the improvement are due to: recruiting, especially in the New Orleans Area schools, and the help of scholarships provided for the players by the University.

Coach Teamer feels that the players work very hard and train very well. She confides that there are no real problems with the players and each player realizes that they are representing Dillard University. When asked what makes a good team Mrs. Teamer replied, "Hard work, recruiting, good athletes, a good program and an organization in practice." Mrs. Teamer also added that, "It takes years to develop a championship team and Dillard should be near this goal in the next two or three years." GO BLUE!!!

Mrs. Mary D. Teamer—Coach of The Devilettes Instructional Assistant in Physical Educational B. S., South Carolina State College; Xavier University

Go Shirley Go!!!

Miss Ragan was developed by her coach, Mrs. Mary D. Teamer. When Shirley entered Dillard she had had no prior basketball experience in high school. Her athletic background as in track, but Coach Teamer recognized Shirley's potential and probably out of desperation and a desire to develop a basketball program at Dillard, Mrs. Teamer was successful in attracting Shirley to the "round ball and hard court" game.

Ragan is the holder of some 13 major individual records set by her during four years of intercollegiate competition, such as (Single Game), Most Points, 51; Most Field Goals, 20; Most Free Throws, 11; Most Field Goal Attempts, 39; Most Consecutive Field Goals 10; Most Free Throws Attempted, 16; Most Rebounds, 28; Most Offensive Rebounds, 17; Most Defensive Rebounds, 17; Most Steals, 6, and, her Career Records are: Most Points, 1281; Most Points per game, 22.3 game average; Field Goals, 517; Free Throws, 247; Field Goal Percentage, 49.0; Free Throw Percentage, 65.1; Steals, 102; Rebounds, 448; Offensive Rebounds, 173, and Defensive Rebounds, 275.

Shirley shares the Most Free Throw Record with Charlene Haynes of Bay St. Louis, Miss., and the Most Steals record with Melany Davis, sophomore, New Orleans, and Ruslin Rabsatt, sophomore, St. Thomas, Virgin Islands.

BERNADETTE FELITA EDWARDS

Bernadette Felita Edwards, Trainer, is a graduating senior majoring in biology pre-medicine from Houston, Texas. She has participated in many campus and community related activities. She was Editor-in-Chief of Le Diable Bleu 1976-78 & she is presently on the Student Publications Board of Dillard University, Student-Trustee Liaison Committee, Hartzell Hall Dormitory President, Business Manager of Le Diable Bleu, President of the Kappa Kittens, and recently participated in the Drama Departments' production of the Crucible. She is a dynamic person and as you can see from her activities a bonified leader. When asked about the future of the Devilettes she replied, "The Devilettes have never exhibited such strength, vigor and vitality as they have this season. Shirley Ragan is a proven asset to the Devilettes. I will hate to see her go." When Miss Edwards was asked about her life here at Dillard she said, "I have learned a lot in my five years of experience here at good ol' D. U. In being a former member of the Devilette team a couple of years ago I know how hard the girls worked to have a winning team and it was that same determination that allowed me to finish from a zealous institution like Dillard University."

“The college experience is a creative and enduring encounter. College is about the vast riches of living and learning, the unique rewards of caring, giving, and sharing and the great blessings of the quest for individual self-fulfillment and the search for human community, the “tie that binds.”

The college experience should make a qualitative difference in the total life, future, and experience of students.

In addition to the acquisition and cultivation of knowledge, learning, and basic skills, the collegiate experience should teach a heightened sense of community, an ethic of concern for others, mutuality, cooperation, interdependence, and a profound sense of human relationships. We belong to each other. Man belongs to man. The college experience should expand and deepen our sense of personal responsibility not only for our own choices and conduct but also for the welfare, interests, happiness, fortunes, and lives of our fellow students.

The college experience should be a microcosm of the Beloved Community.”

PROFILE

Dillard's roots date back to 1869. On June 12, the American Missionary Association of the Congregational Church founded Straight University, and, on July 8, the Freedman's Aid Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church established Union Normal School. Straight University and Union Normal School were subsequently renamed Straight College and New Orleans University, respectively. Initially, both institutions offered instruction on the elementary level then extended to the secondary, collegiate and professional levels.

On June 6, 1930, New Orleans University and Straight College merged to form Dillard University.

Dillard is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, the Department of Education of Louisiana, the Nursing Accrediting Service and the University Senate of the United Methodist Church.

The campus is located on 62 acres in the heart of New Orleans. Dillard's physical facilities include some of the best in the region. Housed on the campus is the Amistad Research Center, one of the world's largest and most outstanding collections of original manuscripts on the history of ethnic minorities in the United States.

The Dillard faculty and student body reflect broad cultural, ethnic, religious, and racial diversity. All are committed to teaching and learning.

The student body is composed of people from more than thirty states and the District of Columbia, U.S.A. and several foreign countries.

All students are members of the Student Government Association. Student members who serve on the University Committees with faculty representation are appointed by the President of the University.

The aims of the Student Government Association are:

1. To work for the best interest of students and the University.
2. To promote student activities.
3. To promote a closer understanding and more genuine cooperation between students and faculty members.
4. To provide training in leadership.
5. To represent the student body in its relationship with the University administration.
6. To instruct students to become responsible citizens of the University and of the community.

Alpha Chi

Alpha Chi is a co-education society whose purpose is to promote academic excellence and exemplary character among college and university students and to honor those achieving such distinction. Affiliated since 1955 with the Association of College Honor Societies, Alpha is the second oldest and second largest general honor society in the parent organization. Members of junior status maintaining an average of 3.5 in his/her respective divisions can qualify for membership. Dr. Joseph LeFevre, advisor and Mrs. Janice Winston is the President.

Alpha Kappa Mu

Alpha Kappa Mu Honor Society is a general honor society which is open to both junior and senior men and women from a wide variety of academic disciplines. It was admitted to membership in the Association of College Honor Societies in 1952, and is listed annually in Baird's Manual, Fraternity Month, and World Almanac.

It was founded in Nashville, Tennessee by representatives of six colleges which had already established local honor societies. The first meeting, called by the Founder, Dr. George W. Gore, Jr., was held in November, 1937, and hosted by Phi Beta Tau Chapter at Tennessee A&I State College.

In its process of growth and development, Alpha Kappa Mu has kept pace with the evolution of our social order. Many notable scholars have gone from its ranks to achieve eminence in the many facets of life that are important to progress. The dynamic leadership, which has steered the organization over the past third of a century has been influential in helping to raise the academic standards on many college campuses.

Beta Beta Beta

Beta Beta Beta is an honor and professional society for students of the biological Sciences. It was founded in 1922. Dillard became a member in 1973 and is the Kappa Iota chapter of Beta Beta Beta.

Beta Kappa Chi

The birth of Beta Kappa Chi began back in 1923 on the campus of Lincoln University in Pennsylvania by three devoted and inspired teachers. The development of new chapters on predominantly black campuses all over the nation lead Beta Kappa Chi to hold its first national meeting in 1945. During the period 1953-1958 a chapter was established here at Dillard. Our chapter holds 12 active members and usually sponsors a yearly function. However Beta Kappa Chi National Society has over 46 chapters, publishes a bulletin 3 times a year, over 3,000 initiates, with the increased student participation in national conventions and has over 700 active members.

The purposes of the Society are: (1) To encourage and advance scientific education through original investigation. (2) The dissemination of scientific knowledge. (3) The stimulation of high scholarship in pure and applied science and I say these so that they might encourage those who are not Beta Kappa Chi members to strive to become active members.

Phi Theta Alpha

On December 1, 1976 fourteen young ladies decided to change the tradition of social sororities. They nourished a bright concept of better standards and purposes for a social organization. The two co-founders, Darilyn Williams and Sharon Garrus felt that there had to be more to a sorority than pledging and marching. They wanted to help people. In September of that year they brought their ideas to the attention of a few friends. Within a few weeks their number had grown to fourteen. They decided the purpose of the organization would be to improve awareness of true womanhood, to strive for lady-like perfection, and to insure peaceful bonds of friendship.

E. Lucile Segre Club

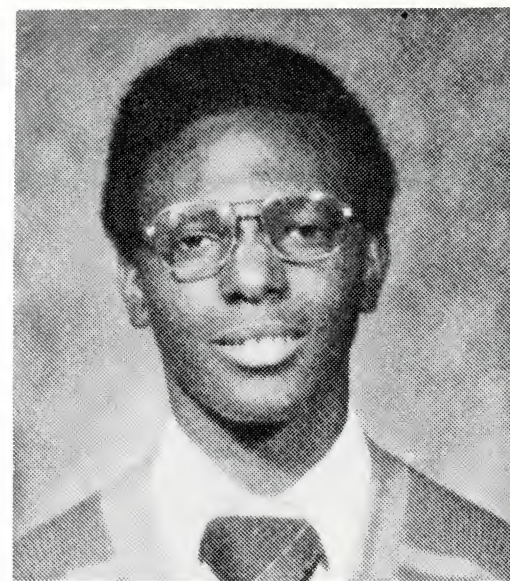

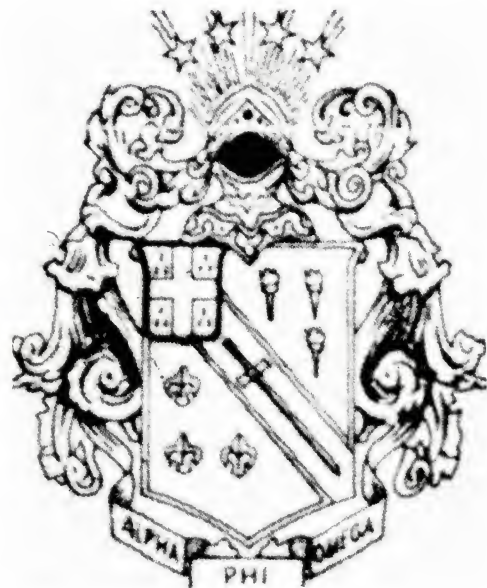

The club was originally organized by the late Mr. William Pullin as a science club. A grant from the Josiah Macey Jr. foundation was awarded to Dillard University to formally organize a Pre-Med, Pre-Dent program to increase the number of students getting into professional schools. Mrs. E. Lucile Segre was appointed as chairperson for the use of the grant to organize such a club.

In November of 1974 Mrs. Segre died unexpectedly. The club decided in early 1975 to name the club after her.
Dr. William W. Sutton

Alpha Phi Omega Service Fraternity

Alpha Phi Omega was born 1925 in Brainerd Hall in Eastern, Pennsylvania. The motive for instituting this organization was to initiate one which could withstand the test of time; an organization which men might better the conditions of other men as well as themselves.

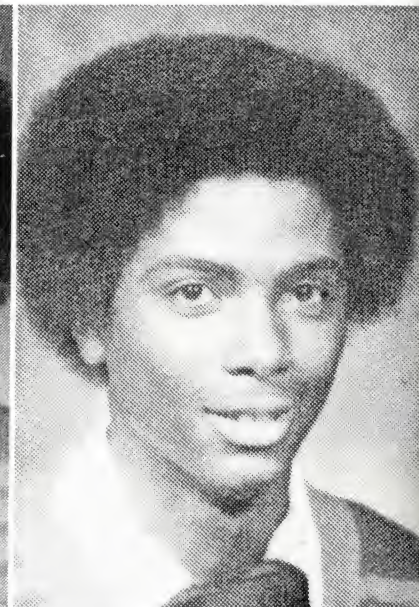

Chi Upsilon Chapter at Dillard University was founded in the spring of 1971 and is an ever-growing chapter of Alpha Phi Omega.

Baptist Student Union

The Baptist Student Union has been a great movement of Christian students on most of the historically black campuses throughout the South and Midwest. The term "movement of Christian students" is used simply because in many cases the Baptist Student Union organization on the campus includes students who are non-Baptist. But they are dedicated to the cause of making Christianity relevant on the college campus.

Quartets

The Dillard University Concert Choir under the direction of S. Carver Davenport, went on an extensive touring session in the Spring of '79. The group toured Atlanta, Ga., Columbia & Charleston, S.C., Pittsburg, Penn., Chicago, Ill., St. Louis, Missouri, Shreveport, Lake Charles, Opelousas & Baton Rouge, Louisiana.

The choir performed such works as: Ain't Got Time to Die, I Couldn't Hear Nobody Pray by Hall Johnson; Great God A'Mighty by Jester Hairston; Ezekiel Saw De Wheel by William Dawson; I Want to Die Easy, You Must Have That True Religion, Done Made My Vow to The Lord, Steal Away, Close to Thee, & Lift Every Voice and Sing arranged by Roland M. Carter; Exultate Deo by Alessandro Scarlatti, O Magnum Mysterium by Tornas Luis da Vittoria; All Breathing Life, Sing and Praise Ye the Lord by Johann Sebastian Bach; Canticle of Praise by John Ness Beck and Run Li'l Chillun by Hall Johnson.

The group performed under packed houses and exhibited an artistic talent that is characteristic of Dillard's men and women. S. Carver Davenport's unique directing ability was a performance in itself—he feels and moves with his music so expressively that you can't help getting involved. He is THE WIZARD OF O.D.D.S. (Obviously Directing with Dynamic Sensation). Ms. Barbara L. Murray (Assistant Professor of Music, Dillard University—pianist), Clarence Baldwin (drums), and Michael Williams (guitar) toured with the concert choir as accompanists. Dillard's Concert Choir should be and are commended for representing their school in THE DILLARD TRADITION.

R.O.T.C.

Army R.O.T.C. has been offered at Dillard University for several years as a cross enrolled institution with Tulane University.

For the first time in the history of Dillard, a military Science office has been established on campus. The fall semester found 35 cadets enrolled in the program.

Military Science offers an education in leadership. We not only study the theory in the classroom environment but have the opportunity to apply this theory on the ground. Our summer camp programs allow us to meet and interact with other college cadets from all over the nation, which is an extremely valuable experience to a well rounded education.

Our activities include drills, rappelling, weapons firing, orienteering, overnight field exercises, and war games. We enjoy our annual Military Ball and tri-service ball each year. R.O.T.C. is a challenge and we meet that challenge.

Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc.

Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Incorporated was the first black, national Greek Letter society for women. It was organized at Howard University, Washington, D.C., in January, 1908. In a period of fifty or more years, Alpha Kappa Alpha grew from one undergraduate group of nine members, to a national organization with an active membership of more than fifty thousand women, located in thirty-six of the fifty states, Liberia, West Africa, and the Bahamas.

The purpose of Alpha Kappa Alpha is to promote high scholastic achievements, a supreme level of sophistication, poise, and grace among its members.

The 11th Annual Ebony Tennis

Classic Leadership Workshop

EXCERPTS FROM SPEECHES MADE THROUGHOUT CLASSIC

The Ebony Tennis Classic has proved itself to be a milestone in and about the Black Community. In cooperation with The Texas Southern University administration and various campus leaders—the staff formulated a Leadership Workshop Session.

The workshop was designed to equip the minds of the 80's with the facilities needed to deal with today's society. We invited over 85 schools to participate in the workshops consisting of SGA Presidents, campus queens and various other campus leaders.

We find it important to incorporate the minds of the 80's into the Black Community to let them know What Being Really Is . . . The result of this great plan for the people of the 80's and 90's was to host The Leadership Workshops in conglomeration with The Ebony Tennis Classic making this a two year celebrated event. The Ebony Classic Touring Professionals along with Coach Herbert Joseph Provost helped develop this dream into a reality.

The ground work has been laid, the format has been made by the people of the 60's to further the prosperity of the 80's and 90's in accordance with The 11th Annual Ebony Tennis Classic with Mr. Herbert Joseph Provost as your director.

Mr. Provost has dedicated his life to help the people of the 80's and 90's to make this world a better place for all of us to live. He fought long and hard with the people of the 50's and 60's to enable the people of the 80's and 90's to have a better life and to help them realize that his efforts are not for selfish purposes.

Everyone should go to The Leadership Workshop Session to become BLACK AWARED.

Leadership Workshop Participants listen attentively to Joe Kirvens.

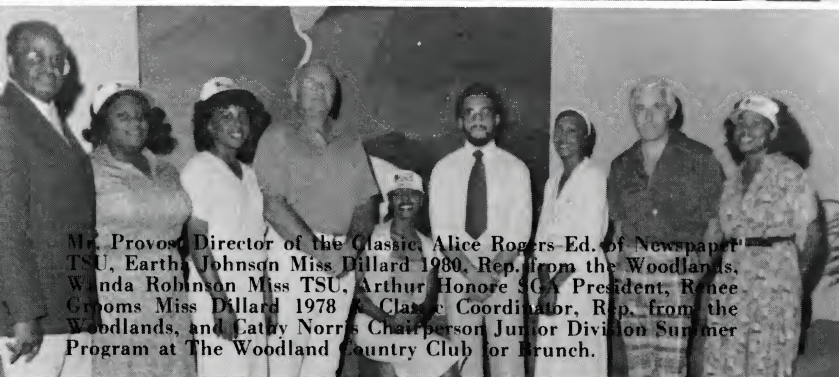

Arthur Honore SGA President of TSU converses with a student on the subject of "The Decision Makers of the 80's."

Mr. Herbert Provost introduces Joe Kirvens Assistant to Governor Clements.

Everyone Should Participate in the Ebony Classic

The Bayou Bend Tennis Academy from an aerial view with the winner of The Singles in action—Horace Reid of Atlanta

Everyone should participate in The Ebony Classic because it is so important to the revitalization of The Black American. Too often we have argued over our Blackness and too often many of us have wanted to be like our white counter parts, but now there is a means by which we can all grasp our full potential and come out on top—The Ebony Classic Leadership Workshop. Witness for yourself THE DECISION MAKERS OF THE 80'S & 90'S come alive and perform miracles for the 20th century, witness for yourself the people of the 40's, 50's and 60's who have laid the ground work from scratch for the people of the 80's and 90's, come alive with enthusiasm for their young. If you were ever in doubt of who you really are you should come to The Ebony Classic. See for yourself one of our very own Miss Amethyst Renee Grooms Miss Dillard 1978, Graphic Consultant with Provost & Associates and Coordinator of The Ebony Tennis Classic Workshops working toward a goal—The Decision Makers of the 80's. The Editor's Message

Well another year has passed and The 1979 Le Diable Bleu has arrived. I could never wholeheartedly express the joy and fulfillment I felt when the book was on its way to Kansas for publication with Inter-Collegiate Press. The time and patience that went along with people not finishing their layout designs or their assignments, the missing of deadlines and the reality of it all—My God its FINISHED and it was really worth it.

This year's theme—Dillard The Epitome of Finer Education . . . because Integrity Makes the Difference has meant a lot to the staff. Not only are we aware of the concern that Dillard has for its men and women, but we are aware of what Dillard holds for us—a future. No matter where you go or how long you stay away you can always come back to GOOD OL' D.U. Dillard exemplifies Finer Education in the true sense. The Dillard administration and staff are constantly working on upgrading the university even though their efficiency leaves little if no room for improvement. If you read thoroughly The President's Message you can understand the true message behind our theme for this year.

This year was my greatest year ever here at Dillard because I won the title of Miss Dillard 1980 succeeding my soror Miss Andrea Bohler. She and Miss Amethyst Renee Grooms Miss Dillard 1978, gave me the encouragement along with Bernadette Edwards Editor of Le Diable Bleu 1978 and Dexter Stephens my Assistant Campaign Manager. These people encouraged me to continue on and avoid what other people were saying because they believed in me and believed in what I had to offer to my University. Thanks to all of you for giving me this chance.

A Yearbook is like short term memory, with the passage of time you soon forget . . . to those not closely associated, but for me The 1979 Le Diable Bleu will always be vibrant in mind. My life at Dillard University has been a pleasant one and my senior year promises to be more inviting.

There are so many people to thank and so many dedications to make that I hope no one is left out: To my parents Mr. & Mrs. Jessie Johnson, Sr., I owe a feeling of sanity for the days and nights spent in our home working on yearbook material and them not denying me a place to work because they wanted nothing but the best for my school and myself; to you

Bernadette Felita Edwards my dear and trusted friend—words can never really express my sentiments—you have been loyal, faithful and true—thank-you for everything; my campaign manager, my friend, Business Manager of the Yearbook and above all for being you; to Mr. & Mrs. Commodore Wilson (Mother Mil & Pops) thank-you for introducing me to the Dillard Family and opening your hearts and your time to someone who needed guidance—May God Bless you Both; to you Cheryl Q. Wilson (Sis) you added a new dimension in my life—Delta Sigma Theta, you have been a compelling force in my life and I am glad you are the person that you are; to you Mrs. Vernese B. O'Neal, you've been an inspiration and you have lived your life as an example for others to follow and how very, very, very special you are to me; to you Mrs. Sylvia N. Parks (Sis) for being with me through my high school years and through college—a guiding light and a dear sweet friend; to you Dexter E. Stephens (Bro.) thanks for doing my running around and being there when I needed a shoulder to lean on; to Juan Anthony Miguel (Twin) for the love and kindness throughout the years and his brother Jon for being the BEST Brothers a girl could ever have; to you Dr. Armond Devezin for being my conscience and putting a stop to my "thinning out"; to you Mr. Neustadter for supplying me with badly needed pictures and information; to Nana Mrs. Arnada Francis (deceased) even though you've gone on you have touched my life with joy, peace and happiness and I will always remember you for you live within my soul; to you Mr. Herbert Provost for being the kind of yearbook representative that every school should have, your experience, loyalty and dedication to your work gave me the inspiration that I needed to finish my book; to you Dr. Samuel DuBois Cook an effervescent and descriptive person who exemplifies the character possessed in the DILLARD MAN; to you Mrs. Dorothy Page Powell for providing me with an opportunity to serve in the capacity of Editor-in-Chief, not only have you made this great task possible and even though I don't call like I should, you are always on my mind; and lastly to my dear and devoted friend and counselor Yvonne Dolores Hitts, girl you helped me so much I can't begin explain, I love you and all of you who made this year's annual a success.

It's been wonderful and it's been great—and I'll say as I did in my 1976 publication of Wa-Lo-Co, "May the amazing grace of God shine eternally on all whose eyes gaze upon Le Diable Bleu 1979."

A Biographical Sketch of

Bishop J. Kenneth Shamblin

Bishop Shamblin

J. Kenneth Shamblin is a Bishop of the United Methodist Church, assigned September 1, 1976, to the Louisiana Area with residence in New Orleans. Prior to his election to the episcopacy at Lincoln, Nebraska, July 13, 1976, he had served as the senior minister of St. Luke's United Methodist Church in Houston, Texas, since 1961. For more than fourteen years of this pastorate, Bishop Shamblin broadcast each Sunday on the NBC television station in Houston, and also had a program called "Spires of the Spirit" over radio station KODA. The church debt of more than a million dollars was liquidated, and all the church plant was dedicated.

Before he was appointed to St. Luke's, he was pastor of Pulaski Heights United Methodist Church in Little Rock, Arkansas, for more than 13 years. During this time Pulaski Heights grew from a small residential church to the largest church in the Little Rock Conference, and all of the present church was constructed.

Bishop Shamblin is a native of Ozark, Arkansas. He is a graduate of the University of Arkansas and Perkins School of Theology at Southern Methodist University. He has done graduate work at the Boston University School of Theology, and holds a Doctor of Divinity degree from Hendrix College.

Bishop Shamblin was licensed to preach at the age of 16. He has served the following churches in Arkansas: Winslow, Lamar, West Memphis, and as District Superintendent of the Searcy District in the North Arkansas Conference.

In 1956, in connection with the centennial celebration of Methodism at Lucknow, India, he made a tour around the world, visiting 21 countries, including the Holy Land; and in 1959, under the direction of the Board of World Peace of the Methodist Church, he made an extensive study of Western Europe and Russia. He was a delegate to the World Methodist Conference in London, 1966. He was a delegate of the United Methodist Church to the Assembly of the World Council of Churches in Uppsala, Sweden, in 1968. Bishop Shamblin studied in the summer of 1973 at Oxford University.

His book, "Life Comes As Choice", was published by Abingdon Press in 1967.

He has been asked to participate in a number of distinguished lectureships: The Raney, the Young, the Peace Lectures in Arkansas; the Pomeroy, the Jones-Cadwallader, and the Wally White Lectures in Louisiana.

Bishop Shamblin is a member of the Board of Discipleship of the United Methodist Church, and Chairman of the Curriculum Resources Committee; he is a member of the Board of Trustees of Centenary College, Dillard University, Methodist Children's Home, Methodist Home Hospital, and Methodist Hospital.

Bishop Shamblin and his wife, the former Virginia Late of Springdale, Arkansas, have a son, J. Kenneth, Jr., who is a minister in the North Texas Conference.

Fiscal Affairs

Mr. Charles C. Teamer

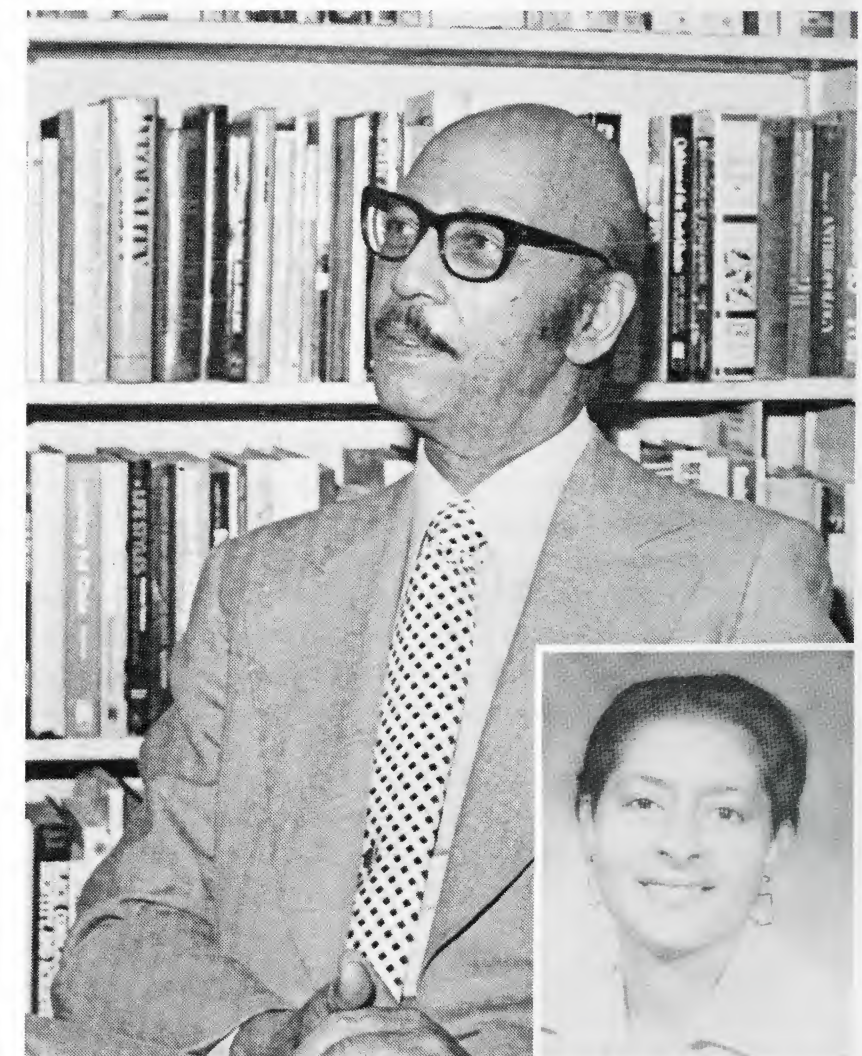

Behind every good man there stands a good woman. Mrs. Mary Teamer is a physical education instructor here at Dillard. She and her husband are among the elite families here at Dillard University. Mr. Teamer has contributed much to the Dillard Family. Besides being the man who is in charge of all financial activities he is a chairperson of The Athletic Banquet, a father and a husband. We would just like to pay homage to husband and wife team, Mr. & Mrs. Charles C. Teamer.

Dillard University's Vice Presidents

Academic Affairs

Dr. Daniel C. Thompson

Dr. Thompson has taught at Dillard for a number of years and now serves in the capacity of Vice President for Academic Affairs. Dr. Barbara Guillory Thompson is a Dillardite and she chose to put her talents in sociology to good use—by coming back to her Alma Mater—Dillard University. A brilliant couple they make and an added attraction to the Dillard Family. We pay homage to Dr. & Dr. Daniel C. Thompson.

Developing a Bigger and Better Dillard University

Mr. Charles Stephens
Vice President of Development

What We're About . . .

Fund-raising, resource development, annual fund campaign, governmental relations, alumni relations, alumni affairs, development research, alumni roll call, deferred giving, planned giving, and campaign coordination are some of the more commonly used terms when one speaks of attracting funds and people—in short, resources—to an institution such as Dillard and also when one thinks of the general area of development. No matter what the term used, the basic role of all who work directly in development is pretty much the same and is also fairly straight forward—to ferret out and research sources, to design approaches, to cultivate relations, as well as to establish and maintain contact with sources of funds, influence and other kinds of assistance needed by the university. The real “bottom line” in any development operation is the success of that operation in attracting the funds, influence, and assistance needed by the university.

Fund Raising, Resource Development, Annual Fund

There are at least two ingredients that dictate success in an institution's development program.

The most important of these ingredients is recognition by the total university family that every trustee, administrator, faculty member, staff member, student, and alumnus has a legitimate role to play in facilitating the development program.

Support of an institution whose mission is education is affected by the faculty and its interest in the instructive process, scholarly pursuit, and program innovations and enrichment.

The students and alumni are the end products of the university's enterprise. Our students and alumni are measured by the standards of mainstream America; thus, the university as an educational, socializing, and actualizing institution is always scrutinized by philanthropic sources.

A second ingredient required for success in a development program is the willingness of the university family to make full use of the staff and information resources available through the development office. A major and continuing effort is underway to ascertain all available information on various segments of the public and private giving communities and to match the information to Dillard's needs. Efforts are also continuously underway to keep faculty and staff informed of opportunities for research, study, and program grants from public and private sources. It is most important that communication flows both ways. The development staff needs to know of and to understand programs currently underway at Dillard; we should also know of programs that could or should be launched if adequate funding could be identified. The staff will try to respond to your need for information and assistance. Please give us an opportunity to earn your confidence.

The staff of the Development Office includes: Mrs. Hermine Goodwin '73 director of alumni affairs; Mrs. Cheryl Dixon '67, director of development research and proposal writer; and a part-time director of governmental relations. The professional staff is supported by Mrs. Marion Scott. There is much for all to do to attain success for Dillard's development program. The success of the office in performing its mission depends, in large measure, on you, your support, and participation. As program and funding needs are presented, we will seek match those needs to private or public resources capable of meeting them. We want you to use us and the information and services we can provide.

Dillard University is a magnificent institution with a magnificent history. She has earned the right to substantial support from her alumni, the foundation and corporate communities, local and national, and from public sources. We, in development, want to maintain an excellent working partnership with you in your role as a member of the university family so that Dillard can get its share of the resources it needs to assure the excellence we all seek to achieve.

Thank you for all you will do to make the development program a viable part of the life of Dillard.

Steps for Admission . . .

The formula is relatively simple.

To apply for admission to Dillard, a prospective student must supply the University with the following:

1. A completed application form.
2. A high school transcript or its equivalent.
3. Completed health forms.
4. Results of the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) or the Student Performance Report from the American College Testing Program (ACT).
5. Completed recommendation forms.

Sounds complicated? It isn't really. It's just a matter of organization.

The first step is to complete the Application Form sent to you by Dillard. Be sure you fill it in completely, with the exception of the "Certificate of High School Credits" section, so as to avoid unnecessary correspondence between you and the University. Have your counselor or principal fill in the section on "Certificate of High School Credits". (Caution: Students cannot fill in this section. The information must come from the school.) Attach a $5 check or money order, which covers handling costs and is non-refundable. Mail no cash, please.

Persons applying for financial aid must complete a separate University Application for Financial Aid form. The form can be mailed to this office or directly to the Office of Financial Aid.

In most cases, your high school officials will also mail the entire package of forms for you. All you need to do is make the request and then follow up to make sure the information has been forwarded within a reasonable amount of time. The student is ultimately responsible for insuring that all admissions materials are received by this office.

If you're transferring to Dillard from another college, you must have the institution you attended forward the official transcript of your college work to Dillard.

Make an appointment with both your family physician and dentist and have them fill in the University's Health Form. If possible, return the form with the application and transcript of credits. If, however, it will delay the return of your Application Form by several weeks, mail them separately.

Each applicant to the Dillard freshman class must also provide the University with his or her scores on either the SAT or ACT examination. Information about the time and place these tests will be given in or near your hometown can be obtained from your principal or counselor. Or, you may write directly, to: (1) College Entrance Examination Board, Box 592, Princeton, New Jersey 08540. (2) American College Testing Program, Box 168, Iowa City, Iowa 52240.

Arrangements for completion of the recommendation forms should be made immediately upon receipt. One form must be completed by your high school principal or guidance counselor. The other should be completed by one of your teachers.

Always remember that time is of the utmost importance and it is for this reason that Dillard strongly urges you to complete the admission procedure as soon as possible during the summer preceding, or the fall semester of, your senior year.

You now know what kind of schedule Dillard asks you to keep in applying for admission and it's only natural that you would like to know how soon Dillard will give you an answer. We will insure a prompt reply to all applicants, keeping the student at all times informed about the status of his application.

Freshmen may enter Dillard at the beginning of the Fall, Spring, and Summer terms. ADMISSIONS TO EACH TERM IS CLOSED 30 DAYS PRIOR TO REGISTRATION.

All admissions information should be forwarded to:

Director of Admissions, Dillard University, 2601 Gentilly Boulevard, New Orleans, La. 70122.

THE FUTURE

A coeducational university, Dillard never made any distinction as to race, religion or sex in the admission of students or the selection of faculty.

Dillard University has the first nationally accredited collegiate program of nursing in the State of Louisiana. Graduates hold high nursing service, teaching and administrative posts in hospitals, health agencies and professional schools in every area of the nation and in foreign countries.

Are you considering entering a university as the next step toward your life goals? Consider DILLARD UNIVERSITY. Progressiveness is part of our heritage. Our academic programs have a reputation for excellence.

Because Dillard is a private university, the admission policy is selective, based upon academic merit and good personal character. MAKE YOUR COMMITMENT FOR THE FUTURE.

You are invited to visit our campus and New Orleans.

The Yearbook and Picture Program Designed for the People of the 80's

The students on the yearbook staff are distinguished as another group of the 80's that process the unique quality of being abstract.

Experience has shown that the best way to convert this abstractness into excellence and achievement is through supervised yearbook workshops.

Having these students to incorporate their ideas into the type of yearbook that they themselves helped conceive organize and publish is all important to their development.

The personal qualification of your Inter-Collegiate Press graphics communications consultants (Herbert Provost and Renee Grooms) include a strong foundation of training and understanding of yearbook graphics, including know-how in creating and reproducing type, photos, art, color, and special effects. Provost will offer total technical and advisory service to your fine school. A full-scale training seminar will be conducted for the members of the staff and advisor, at no cost to the school. All material and supplies will be furnished free.
